

"I used to pull my hair out entering products into my stock control system..."

...PLUs, barcodes, product names, register descriptions, three different supplier codes...

...I dreaded adding new products to our point of sale system...

...but then I discovered Liquorfile!"

LiquorfileTM
the Australian standard

Product codes certainly make the control and purchase of your liquor stock easier. However, entering the different types of information and codes into your computer system makes the process laborious and extremely time consuming.

Liquorfile reduces the work

Liquorfile is a comprehensive catalogue of liquor products available in Australia. This list contains all information relevant to stock control, sales and ordering of beverages, including multiple supplier codes, barcodes and PLUs. This database is linked to one product code which simplifies the process of populating your stock control system.

The benefits of Liquorfile:

Efficient

Liquorfile's product catalogue seamlessly integrates into most major Hospitality Back Office Stock Control Systems. This will reduce the task of implementing and managing your POS system.

Freedom

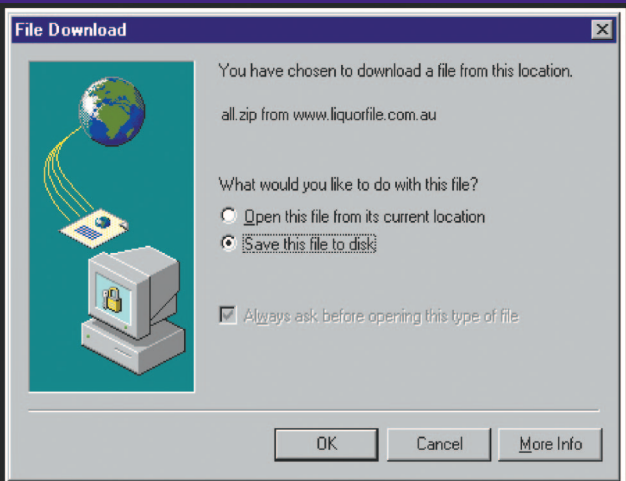

The liquorfile catalogue will supply order codes for a range of different suppliers per product. This gives you the freedom to purchase products from any supplier.

Easy maintenance

Our regular updates make it easy to keep your catalogue system current. Just one click and the latest information is added to your catalogue.

Update your POS system with the click of a button
